Maddie Meier, an internationally-trained soprano, conductor and teacher from St. Louis, Missouri, received her Bachelor of Music in Vocal Performance and Bachelor of Arts in German with a minor in French from Montclair State University in New Jersey. She graduated in 2020, summa cum laude. During her time at Montclair, she received a full-ride scholarship to study for a year at the Kunstuniversität Graz in Austria. She has done solo voice work with different Baroque Chamber Ensembles in and outside of the United States, and has sung a variety of different operatic and musical theater roles, in addition to concert works. Recently, she has performed as a soprano soloist for Mendelssohn's A Midsummer Night's Dream with the Princeton Symphony Orchestra and the American Repertory Ballet Theater. She has also performed as the soprano soloist for Handel's Messiah, in addition to performing Haydn's Creation with the South Orange Symphony Orchestra. Ms. Meier was a finalist in The Kentucky Bach Choir's Audrey Rooney Vocal Bach Competition in 2021. She is a Soprano Singer with The Princeton Singers, a professional choral group known for their high-quality performances of works from many different cultures and periods, primarily contemporary. As a conductor, Ms. Meier has been accepted as a Conducting Fellow at various conducting institutes across the country. Recently, she was accepted to conduct at the Eastman Summer Conducting Institute, where she conducted the Brahms Requiem. She is currently a Conducting Fellow with the Princeton Girlchoir, where she works with the organization's top high school ensembles. Ms. Meier has worked with different adult community choruses in her area and is currently the Choral Music Director at Neptune Township High School. There, she directs two SATB choruses, in addition to directing the after school dramatic and musical productions. She also directs the school's international, award-winning a cappella ensemble. She currently resides in Princeton, New Jersey, where she performs and runs her own private voice, violin, piano and language studio (Maddie Meier Music Studio, LLC). In her spare time, Maddie is a voracious reader, who loves to paint, hike, cook and garden.
